DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

This Office Action is responsive to the Amendment filed March 25, 2008. The rejection of claims 1-6 & 11-16 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Buetow et al. U.S. 6,357,534, and further in view of Chen et al. U. S. Pub. 2004/0033415 is overcome. However, newly added claim 21 is rejected as follows:

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-6 & 11-16 are allowed. The instant claims are allowable over the prior art of record, because the prior art is silent to an electric hand tool comprising a casing; electrically operated components; an actuating trigger configured to actuate the locking means and a retaining finger extending from a surface of the housing.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. It appears as though the specification does not provide support for “wherein the retaining finger is in a compressed state when the battery, accommodated by the housing, is electrically disconnected from the electrically operated components”. Applicant points to page 6, line 1 to page 7 line 1 for support for this limitation. However, it appears as though the retaining finger is not compressed when the battery is electrically disconnected from the electrically operated components. It appears as though the boss is forced passed the finger when the battery is disengaged and the retaining finger is not compressed. See page 6, lines 30-38.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the Buetow and Chen are persuasive and the rejection is withdrawn.
